

Literary and Visual Arts Unlimited

Joseph Aprile
4742 42nd Ave SW #393
Seattle, WA 98116-4553

Phone: 206-650-4349
Email: josephaprile@comcast.net

NEWSLETTER

July/August, 2007

Published Books and Art Available for Purchase: <http://lvau.com>
Short Stories Available (49¢ each) at: Amazon Shorts
Art Available for Purchase at: <http://artwanted.com/japrile>

I am of the unwavering conviction that human destiny on this planet can be positively influenced by striving for knowledge, peace, understanding, love and social justice.

Joe's Comments and Observations <http://lvau.blogspot.com>

“In the beginnings of the human kind, ignorance was prevalent and fear and suspicion dominated and shaped human behavior. What is particularly unique about humanity in the twenty-first century is the inescapable reality that the application of overwhelming force against a perceived enemy is no longer a viable solution, especially considering the destructiveness of modern technological weaponry.”

Quotes - Jimmy Carter from his book entitled, Palestine Peace not Apartheid: “In times of greatest discouragement, ultimate hope has rested on the fact that, overwhelmingly, the people in the region— even those Syrians, Israelis, Lebanese and Palestinians who are most distrusted by their adversaries— want the peace efforts to succeed...”

JOE'S READINGS/EVENTS

Art Fair

Saturday August 11, 9:00 am - 3:00 pm
C&P Coffee Company - 5612 California Avenue SW

Reading

Saturday August 11, 4:00 pm
Reading from Novel, The Surprising Latitude of Fate
Newberry Books
510 NE 65th Street
Seattle, WA, 98115
(206) 524-4260

PROGRESSIVE BOOK CORNER

The Assault on Reason - Al Gore, Penguin

Iran: A People Interrupted -Hamid Dabashi, New Press

A Second Opinion - Arnold S. Relman MD, PublicAffairs

Published Works

Awakening from a Distant Dream:

This is a story about Laura. Laura was born with a sensitive spirit. As an adolescent, she is plagued by feelings of uncertainty and confusion about her relationship with her family and friends, but, most importantly, her personal identity and place in the social order of things. As events unfold, circumstances propel her into situations where she is forced to make some momentous decisions that will help her eventually come to terms with her own nature. Laura ultimately discovers her true calling in life and the artist she was destined to be. This singular existence illustrates the challenges that shape the depth and unique character of the self.

The Surprising Latitude of Fate:

The Surprising Latitude of Fate is a novel that follows the life of an Italian immigrant (Carmelo Visconti) as he attempts to navigate his way through the intricacies of the American culture. He is catapulted from village life in a small town on the Adriatic to the frenetic pace and lifestyle that comes with living in New York. His innate sense of adventure together with his burgeoning loneliness leads him on a path that he would come to regret. Carmelo is exposed to the darker elements of his psyche that he was previously unaware of, especially his more violent nature. The inevitable consequences of his behavior bring him to a precipice that could result in his destruction. It is essentially the story of personal redemption.

At the Fringes of Experience:

This anthology of short stories deals with the larger issues of the human condition. Bronx Memories represents the author's own personal journey as a young boy. Nathaniel Hastings is a kind of modern day odyssey, in which the protagonist navigates through life from very bizarre beginnings. The stories, Bradley Stimpson and Marie, The Strange Diaries of Jeremy Flood and Benjamin's Magic Bullet take place in some future time and explore various aspects of contemporary human society. Lastly, No Time for Retribution is a work that examines the modern world as seen through the eyes of a person dealing with madness.

America and the Mythology of Greatness:

This well researched book examines the myths about America and its moral position in the world. The myths enumerated include the myth of equal justice and the myth of America as the so-called "world policeman." The premise of this work is that a belief in these myths distorts the truth and impedes real social progress. Alternatives are suggested that are more in keeping with a truly free and democratic society.

Impaled on Time's Illustrious Arrow:

This anthology of poetry (over 150 poems) covers a wide range of thoughts, reflections and experience. Poetry to me is a succinct medium through which the many layers, and often elusive, textures of emotions can best be expressed.

The Illusive Quality of Existence:

This anthology of poetry (some 200 poems) is a collection of more recent work and includes what the author refers to as picture poems, i.e. poems that include color images from original art and photographs.

Short Stories (Amazon Shorts 49 cents@)

- Where the Buffaloes Roam
- A Birth in Denver
- Dust from the Rings of Saturn
- Manhattan
- That Damnable String Theory
- Memories of Summers in the Bronx.

The above titles can be easily purchased on-line: <http://lvau.com>